Presentation

Description

What place can multimedia play in the teaching and learning of a foreign language? How can you allow for language expertise and knowledge to be developed?

This class will take stock of the different usage contexts of the internet in class. It will then present the educational resources available online grouped by skills and objectives. We will see how to analyse and select these resources and how to present them to learners by creating a learning journey around a blog or a platform. We will also explore the potential of Web 2.0 in educational monitoring of the teacher and his/her activities in class.
